"The Historic Plantation House at Langtree was constructed near the end of the Civil War by Dr. Henry Yeoman Mott. Dr. Mott, as he was so familiarly known, was a true type of the old-time southern gentleman, a manly, erect figure, a man loved and honored by all who knew him. Born June 1, 1841, at Flat Rock, Henry Yeoman Mott was a son of an Episcopal minister and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. T. S. W. Mott. Dr. Mott's father, who was a member of a prominent Canadian family, who came to the South many years ago, was the founder of the old St. John's Church-In-The-Wilderness at Flat Rock and of the Episcopal church at Valle Crucis. Henry Yeoman Mott, then a young man of 20 years, entered the Confederate army as a cavalry private at the outbreak of the Civil War. He was known as a gallant and courageous soldier, serving throughout the entire four years of the war, carrying his commission in his pocket and serving in the cavalry ranks as a soldier instead of an officer. For a while he was aide to General D. H. Hill.

Just after the war, Dr. Mott married Miss Roxana Smith, of Lincoln county. His wife was a member of a prominent family of Lincoln county. Her father was the director of the Little Mountain Iron Works of the Confederate government, an important unit during the war. Dr. Mott attended Jefferson Medical College, in Philadelphia, after the war. His two older brothers had been graduated from this institution. In-home Gourmet Dinner for Ten People

Prior to your exceptional experience, you will work with the Chef and Kit to craft your dinner according to your preferences.

About Stone Table

In 2001, Matthew Sganga began Stone Table restaurant as a small part-time catering service located on the corner of Windsor and Church St. in downtown Monroe, NC. In 2002, Matthew left the well-loved Santé Restaurant in Matthews where he was working as a chef de cuisine to cater full-time. It was under the training of Adam Reed of Santé that Matthew refined his love for fine food and quality ingredients.

Originally, Matthew operated Stone Table with his family and close friends, serving Wingate and Monroe, and eventually catering throughout Union County. In 2005, the Stone Table crew moved to a space in the Shops at Nottingham Plaza, and began serving lunch, as well as expanding their catering company. That first day in August, the register was filled with an old cigar box of change, donated by Matthew's grandmother. The refrigerator held enough food to last a day or two. From that humble beginning to the present, Union County has shown up to eat at Stone Table. Matthew, his family, and friends still run the business. Some of their pictures adorn one wall of the restaurant. Stone Table is now located in Historic Downtown Monroe.

Valid during 2016 in the Greater Charlotte region, with reservations and based upon availability. Gratuity for the service staff is appreciated. Additional cocktails are at the winner's expense.

"Dancing Dreams" by Israeli Artist David Schluss

$11,650

Thank you to a special friend of heart for donating this 36" x 30" framed acrylic on canvas by artist David Schluss. This work of art comes with a certificate of authenticity.

Artist Statement

"My creations are essentially and extension of my personality emerging from my inner self. The emotions represent the deeper meaning of what my images portray. The enthusiasm evoked from my work reflects my passion for love, happiness, energy, spirituality and ultimately the essence of life. I hope that my collectors enter my world through my playful images and come out with the same feelings of joy and excitement that I use to create."

Biography

David Schluss, was born in 1943. He started painting at a very early age in Israel. He attended school in the ancient city of Jaffa, the historical seaport in central Israel. It was there that the mystical walls of the city and the austere religion of the historic churches, temples and monasteries captivated him. It was during these early years in Israel that Schluss sensed his overwhelming desire to paint. Unable to afford the necessary painting materials as a young artist, Schluss began sketching with charcoal and cheap pencils. He gave his sketches away to anyone who showed interest in his work. His main objective was the development of his craft. During his early 20's, Schluss and his family migrated to Montreal, Canada. In 1969, he enrolled in the renowned art school "Ecole des Beaux Arts." Soon after, he began teaching private lessons to other students of the school. In 1971, he pursued his interests in art education at the University of Sir George Williams in Montreal where he earned his fine arts degree. Influence from great masters such as Chagall, Miro, and Botero inspired Schluss to create his own individualized style and technique of painting. He began experimenting by painting with his hands, using no paintbrush or spatula. He says, "With the palm of my hands I can get a play of light that I could never achieve with a brush. I start with the abstract, and figures emerge." Today, Schluss paints only using his hands. Using his fingers as paintbrushes, he sculpts out images, textures and colors directly onto the canvas. It is with this unique vision that Schluss creates his whimsical and playful images. The joy and enthusiasm that David Schluss depicts in all of his works are signature to the graceful, elegance that exemplifies the beauty of his artistic style of painting. In 1983, David Schluss opened a Studio in Fort Lauderdale, Florida where he still continues to perfect his painting technique. He travels back and forth from Florida to Tel-Aviv, drawing inspirations for his work. His paintings are currently being displayed in the Teffen Museum in Israel, The Museum of Modern Art in Fort Lauderdale, and in many private and public collections throughout the world.

Ann Seifert has been sculpting since 1986. In 2001 she also introduced a new line of animal sculpture. Her portfolio of animal and figurative sculpture designs continues to grow and her work is on display in collector`s homes around the world. “It is a delightful challenge to sculpt animals in a pose which displays something about their character... a loyal dog, a quiet attentive feline, an elegant swan ... the goal being to capture something of their basic nature.”

1617*"Gathered Treasures" by Marcy Gregg*$3,500

Artist Marcy Gregg has created this original work of art specifically for a special Heart Ball supporter. This framed 40" x 40" abstract original is in memory of her father, Dr. James Perkins.

About Marcy Gregg

"Marcy Gregg's journey to becoming a painter did not follow the typical career path. Her life changed forever after a serious complication arose during the delivery of her third child, leaving Marcy in a coma with little hope of recovery. Overcoming incredible odds, with the healing power of God, she regained consciousness but lost much of her memory. Faced with the daunting task of rebuilding her identity, Marcy reevaluated her priorities. Determined to make the most of the second chance she had been given, in 2006 Gregg made the decision to sell her successful business and return to her true passion, art.

Marcy Gregg's paintings are multifaceted explorations of the intrinsic beauty of form and color and the inherent properties of her chosen medium, fine oil paints. Gregg's creative compositions, whether representational or abstract, reflect her love of color and texture. She builds layer upon layer of paint to create a thick application. Gregg is honored to be the recipient of the 2013 Art With Heart Emerging Artist Award. She is represented by Anne Neilson Fine Art in Charlotte, North Carolina, Huff Harrington in Atlanta, Georgia, Gallery 1401 in Chattanooga, Tennessee and Bee Street Studio in Dallas, Texas.

"I experience great joy when I stand in front of a canvas with a paintbrush in my hand. In my miraculous healing, God gave me a second chance at life; and each day that I paint I have a second chance to pursue my love of art. I am motivated by color and texture in my painting. It is what inspires me. To achieve highly texturized compositions, I layer paint and often use a palette knife. It is my goal in each painting to leave something to the imagination... lines lost or a unexpected shift in color. I want my viewer intrigued."

Going to a formal affair or getting married? Kimberly Pixton of Pixton Design Group will design a stunning custom gown with a value of $2500.

About Pixton Design Group

Pixton Design Group began when designer Kimberly Pixton Millar was looking for a bridal gown and could not find one that suited her. As a result, she designed her own gown. Commissions followed for friends and acquaintances and after several years, Pixton transitioned into manufacturing and selling to exclusive bridal salons throughout the United States and Europe. Hearing brides mention that they were having trouble finding the perfect honeymoon swimsuit, Pixton responded by creating a honeymoon swimwear line. This led the Carolina Panthers to select Pixton to design the swimwear for their cheerleader calendar. In 2014, Pixton opened a showroom in Charlotte to meet private clients to custom design their bridal, pageant and social occasion wardrobes. All of our gowns are proudly made in the USA.

About Anne Neilson

Anne Herring Neilson began her artistic career with a successful pottery business, Herring Designs, Inc. (1989 to 1997). After a brief interlude spent focused on her growing family, she rekindled her lifelong passion for art in 2003 when she began painting in oils. Anne Neilson quickly became nationally known for her ethereal Angel Series paintings which are inspiring reflections of her faith and flair for color and light. In addition to her popular Angel paintings, Neilson's repertoire includes dramatic landscapes featuring scenes from her travels.

In October 2012 Neilson self-published Angels In Our Midst, a beautiful art book sharing inspirational and personal stories behind her Angel Series paintings. In less than two years Neilson has sold 20,000 copies and released her second book in fall of 2014, Strokes Of Compassion. As a result of her successful national shows and the growing popularity of her work, Neilson's art has captured the interest of discerning art collectors. 1819*Legal Remedy Brewing Tour and Tasting for 12*$350

Enjoy a guided beer tasting and facility tour for up to 6 couples at Legal Remedy Brewing in Rock Hill, SC.

About Legal Remedy Brewing Co.

"In 2015 Legal Remedy Brewing converted a vacant Rock Hill, SC auto dealership into a custom craft brewery and brewpub. With over 11,000 square feet of interior and exterior space, the brewery houses a 17-barrel brewing system along with two smaller brewing systems, which collectively can produce up to 10,000 barrels of beer per year. In 2009, a lawyer, a landscape architect, two bankers and a computer guy figured beer was a worthwhile use of time. Legal Remedy was born, and this crew started entering homebrew competitions. Over time, they figured they would "go legal," so they got a license from the Feds. They needed a full time Brewmaster, so of course, they talked to their local dentist (yes, dentist), who just happened to know a Brewmaster. Shortly thereafter in 2014, the first legal batch of Legal Remedy went to market. About nine months after that, the brewery on Oakland Avenue opened — and here we are. Needless to say we are omitting a detail or two, but we're trying to tell a story here. This is the most American of stories — people with a common goal trying to make something. We think you will agree the results are mighty good."

Valid during 2016 with reservations and based upon availability. Beverages above what is offered are at the winner's expense.

1824*Three Spirits Brewery Tour and Tasting for 12*$350

Three Spirits Brewery is pleased to offer you a private tour and tasting for up to 12 people.

About Three Spirits Beer

"Strange though the "jump" may seem, I am an M.D. turned brewer. I have made the life decision to stop doctoring and follow a dream. I had always wanted to learn home brewing and saw beer as a welcome fringe benefit during stressful times. I loved it from the start. Making beer is like getting to be the mad scientist. You are only limited by your imagination. Over time, I got better at it, and people told me I should sell my beer. Surprisingly, my wife was onboard, with one catch — that I get some type of formal education. Her research suggested that the Siebel Institute of Technology would be the best choice. Learning the craft of beer-making from people who had spent years at the world's largest breweries, along with the support and camaraderie of a menagerie of international students, proved to be one of the best experiences of my life. Before long, my vision for Three Spirits Brewery began to take shape.

After testing my recipes on thirsty and willing participants, I had a good idea of the types of beers Charlotteans would like. I also wanted my brewery to have an environment worthy of the craft beer being served. I envisioned something similar to an upscale wine bar for beer lovers, but with coffee-shop coziness. The name Three Spirits stems from my love of Dickens' A Christmas Carol and my earlier career choice.

We invite you to come join the new adult craft beer scene in Charlotte... Experience the fun, but grown-up atmosphere... Find a new favorite brew... And enjoy your new home away from home with us!" Tabu & Jennifer

1844*Magnum of Burly Wine*$160

"The name for BURLY originates from founder Hank McCrorie's college football days, when he was dubbed "Burly Bear" by the local paper. The nickname stuck among his teammates and given the bold nature of this wine, is more than a befitting tribute. The oak tree display on the label is not only a symbol connecting the McCrorie's childhoods - Hank growing up surrounded by the beautiful southern oaks of North Carolina and Bernice the sprawling oak trees at the family ranch in Northern California - but also embodies the intrinsic flavors of tannins and oak, balanced by the beauty of its velvety, rich and flavorful layers."
